Are you ready for an exciting challenge?

Join our dream for a more efficient and safe global trade with pharmaceuticals and chemicals. Our B2B market analytics platform empowers buyers and sellers across the world with unique market insights and supports their workflows.

We are looking for excited colleagues interested in having real-world impact by developing intuitive dashboards and responsive single-page applications for our platform.

QYOBO is a tech startup focusing on the development of cutting-edge big data algorithms and workflow automation in close collaboration with leading industry players.

Front-end developer – You...

- have extended experience in vue.js (D3.js is a plus) and TypeScript
- Love coding and strive for the best technical solution
- Take pride in your work and care about clean and high-performing code
- are a fantastic team player, ideally available >20h/week for IDPs / full-time for interns

What we offer

- IDPs (individual & team, supervised by ERI), internships, working student and full-time jobs
- work on a topic that matters by contributing to a more transparent & efficient drug supply
- become part of an inclusive, non-hierarchical team (and amazing team events)
- work alongside experienced colleagues (McKinsey, BMW, Stanford, UC Berkeley) and benefit from extensive coaching
- flexible working hours, free coffee and frequent Friday's bars/BBQs ;-)
